I feel honored and fortunate for being chosen as the president PAUS during the time when our Pakistan Journal of Urology was to be born. It has been for a number of years now that I have seen few faces struggling to nurture this concept of having our own journal of Urology. One such Hercules is none other but our Prof. Dr. Liaqat Ali. He is truly the person who made this possible and blessed us with this identity which will be a testimony to our dedication. This journal will portray the newer techniques and will be an answer to the emerging queries in Urology. Clinical without academics are like flowers with no fragrance. This was a core demand to have a journal which endorses only Urology. But there is no end to wisdom thereby, this Journal will welcome a diverse number of physicians and surgeons and will help them when they are keen to dive in a multidisciplinary approach to manage their patients. A man who wants to climb a ladder does focus on the destination above but can't climb with hands in his pockets. We all do aim high but there are few who achieve those aims by flying high. I dedicate this first volume to those people who surely can be labelled as the pioneers of Pakistan Journal of Urology.
